

6158 Proposition 65

Objective

California Proposition 65 was introduced as a new basic substance group in IMDS on February 11, 2019.

The California Proposition 65, short "Proposition 65" - the official name is "Safe Drinking Water and Toxic Enforcement Act of 1986" - is a law that came into force in 1986 in the US state of California to promote the cleanliness of drinking water. This regulation requires the state to publish a list of chemicals known to cause cancer, malformation or other reproductive harm. The regulation requires companies to inform California citizens of significant amounts of chemicals in their products. The law lists more than 800 chemicals containing substances such as cadmium, DEHP, ethylbenzene, but also many drugs such as aspirin. In terms of content, the Proposition 65 list has some overlaps with the REACH candidate list.

Content

- Background, legal situation and information exchange
 - Origin, background and goals
 - Legal background to California Proposition 65
 - Duty to inform according to Proposition 65
 - Labeling obligations/warnings
- Affected substances
 - The Proposition 65 list of the OEHHA
 - Current exposure limits (Safe Harbor Levels)
 - Inclusion of affected substances in GADSL/IMDS
- Roles and responsibilities
 - Affected operational areas
 - Overlaps with EU REACH/ELV
 - Market surveillance in California & court cases/judgments
- Risk and exposure assessment
 - Inventory of internal company information
 - Measures to minimize liability risks

Training method

Lecture with discussion and practical solutions

Circle of participants

Developers, environmental officers, quality management and purchasing staff, IMDS administrators, packaging experts (designers), warehouse and logistics managers

Prerequisites

Basic knowledge of materials

Duration

120 minutes

Max. number of participants: 14

Certificate

As a participant in our training courses, you will receive a personal certificate.

Training documentation

You will receive a personal copy of the accompanying presentation.

Public training

Current prices and dates can be found on our website www.imds-professional.com

Exclusive training

You can also book this seminar exclusively. Your advantage: You determine the location, date and number of participants and can set priorities. If you wish, we can take over the entire organisation.

Please ask for your personal offer:

Phone +49 6083 91 30 30

info@imds-professional.com