6215 Using CDX effectively

Objective

You understand the background and objectives of the Compliance Data Exchange System (CDX) and know your data responsibility as part of the supply chain. You are familiar with the terminology and definitions used in CDX and can apply all common CDX functions. You will learn how to create, send, and manager material data sheets (MDSs), as well as how to build structure trees on your own. You know how to use search mechanisms to identify high-quality data sheets and how to integrate them into your structure tree. In addition, you can analyze your data and are able to operate and administer the CDX system confidently.
